Richmond is not in sixth place yet, but her victory over Norfolk yesterday afternoon put her in speaking distance thereof, and the chances are now bright tor a good jump in percentage during the time the Johnny Rebs will remain at Yesterday's contest was a beautiful one, and was about as snappy as could have been desired. It took but an hour and twenty minutes for the two teams to play the nine innings, and the Richmond lads, after playing all around their competitors, came off victorious. The locals were sore over their defeat of the preceding day, and they jumped out on the diamond the moment the gong sounded, determined to get revenge. Their fielding was quick and accurate, and they went at the Norfolks tooth and toenall, glving them absolutely no show

They handled their sticks in an effective manner, too. They didn't hit often, but they hit mighty hard, and made every stroke count for something. The team work was superb, and the Johnnies ran the bases in a most creditable fashion. Newton was the twirler whom Bill Smith put in to do the tessing for Nor olk, and in the first shake out of the and Elsey got a triple. Hargrove had ecaded these worthles to the base, he ng presented with the bag by Newton, who tapped him on the shoulder, and he and Elberfeld crossed over on Elsey's rap. Elsey tried to go home, too, but was headed off at the plate and put out. The game was contested throughout by The game was comes making every effort to score, but the Richmond lads fairly outdid themselves in their respective positions, and ate up base hits as though they were plums. Newton cettled down after the first iming and kept the hits well scattered, holding the locals nicely is hand until the fifth. Then Schmidt hot grounder through Knowles for three bags. Schmidt, of course, trotted home on this lick, and when Kain came to the bat he sent Hargy over. Barley rapped out one to left-field. It was a safe hit, and Weihl, who went after it, let it so through him. Barley helps per let it go through him, Barley being per-mitted thereby to go to third. He re-mained there but a short time, ere Elberfeld fined one out to Smith, and Kain

NORFOLK WAS BEATEN. That run made Richmond's total five. and the Norfolk lads were undoubtedly beaten. They realized it, the spectators believed it, and the Johnnies knew it. Richmond made no more runs, for no more were needed, but Norfolk tried to make at least some sort of a showing. in order to save the ignominy of a shutout, and redoubled her efforts at the bat. Schmidt, who was tossing for Richmond, was equal to the occasion, though, and he gave the visitors but little encouragement. He didn't try to keep them from hitting; he gave them more hits than Newton gave Richmond; but he didn't let the hits get bunched, and being supported in magnificent fashion, he was successful. Stuart was the star of the infield. making it possible for doubles to be made on three different occasions. His work very materially affected the rungetting efforts of Norfolk, and only once, Norfolkian permitted to get to third

Umpire Carlin didn't like the roasts he received here, and on yesterday morning telegraphed his resignation to President Barrows. He leaves no one to re-gret his act, for he was the poorest apology for an umpire yet seen here. His resignation left no official umpire here, and Mr. Fleming Phillips officiated, in a most impartial fashion. The official score is here appended:

Up to the ninth inning it looked as if the Athletics would be shut out, when a passed ball by Smink and an error by Smith gave the visitors their PATERSON.

Argument.

LANCASTER, PA., June 26 .- (Special.)-West had the best of a pitchers' argument in the third of the series with Hartford to-day, and Lancaster won the rubber largely through his good work in the box. Vickery, besides yielding more hits than the local twirler, brought distress to his side by giving several bases on balls. Radford carried off the fielding honors.
